

RISK BASED AUDIT (RBA) METHODOLOGY APPLICATION: EMBEDDING COSO FOR GREATER WINS

CLASSROOM
(in Virtual Format)

OVERVIEW

RBA approach should constantly evolve in tandem with the changes taking place in and around the corporation we serve as the preferred assurance partner. The increasing demand for higher standard of assurance practices further fuel the needs to re-examine the thoroughness and adequacy of the RBA approach adopted to yield the desired assurance outcome from our stakeholders.

One crucial aspect of the RBA approach is to assess the design and implementation of controls against risks identified. In this regard, the challenge remains whether the right controls are being identified and scrutinized. Could there be any blind spots such as effectiveness of oversight, change management, practices or other soft controls that were not adequately reviewed or reported?

This workshop aims to sharpen the skills and increase focus of the participants on critical aspects of controls which we sometimes tend to overlook or dare not venture into. Technique to embed COSO elements throughout the assurance review process (i.e. planning, execution and reporting) will also be shared with the participants using the facilitators widely accepted one-stop RBA template.

WORKSHOP HIGHLIGHTS

- Fitting RBA methodology into the larger picture of Assurance today
- Case Illustration: Risk-based thinking in real corporate situation
- IIA's position on RBA
- Issues and challenges in adopting RBA approach
- Revisit COSO framework: Linking COSO to real corporate scenario
- Why COSO?
- Embedding COSO in RBA Planning: Carving a holistic RBA Plan and Strategy
- Embedding COSO in RBA Execution: Increasing breadth and depth of internal control coverage
- Embedding COSO in RBA Reporting: Integrating RBA & COSO for overall conclusion and opinion
